10,000 People Are Homeless In Flood Disaster

LATEST BREAK IN MISSISSIPPI LEVEE INUNDATES 70,000 ACRES OF TRUCK LAND CAUSING MILLIONS IN LOSSES

New Orleans, La., April 27.—10,000 people are homeless and sixty to seventy thousand acres of valuable farming lands are being inundated to-day as the result of a 400 foot crevasse in the Mississippi levee at Poydras, ten miles below this city. The waters are sweeping an area five miles wide in a straight line for Lake Borgne, twenty miles distant. Thousands of refugees, according to reports reaching here are fleeing to Shell Beach, on Lake Borgne, where boats are waiting to take them to places of safety.

New Orleans, La., April 27.—A break from 150 to 200 feet occurred in the Mississippi river levee at Poydras, according to reports here. The point at which the break occurred is a truck farming section and rather densely populated and it is feared here that a serious break may mean the loss of many lives.

DEFENSE GAINS IN MINERS TRIAL

Charlestown, West Va., April 27.—Fifty-seven officials and forty-five locals of the United Mine Workers of America in West Virginia were listed today by the prosecution in the treason trials as contributors to the miners' war fund in the march on Logan County. The list was in answer to the demand of the defense for an amplification of the bill of particulars in the case of William Blizard, one of the miners' leaders. The list narrows the treason cases materially. Under the original indictment the defense would have been forced to summon witnesses from 680 locals to combat the state's blanket charges that Blizard gathered a "war chest" from the union officials with which to wage war against the state.

ROAD CONTRACTS WERE AWARDED

Contracts for the building of the piece of road in Bradford township which runs from the Pennsylvania railroad crossing through the village of Bigler, was given to Warren Bros the low bidders, by the State Highway Department at Harrisburg yesterday. The road will cost $30,070.15. The piece through Mahaffey borough was also awarded to the Burnside Construction Co., at their bid of $33,362.38. Both jobs are county road jobs the districts affected paying one-fourth the cost of construction.

GIFFORD PINCHOT FINANCED EXPERT FOR HIS DEPARTMENT

State Senator Long Replies To Vane Criticism of State Forester's Salary Increase.

SEES PINCHOT WIN

So far from conducting his forestry department upon a basis of waste of Pennsylvania's money, as charged by Senator William Vane, it was discovered last night that Gifford Pinchot paid $9,000 of his own money to an expert forester when the salary allowed by the state administration was not enough.

State Senator, D. Edward Long, who arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon and left last night told members of the Pinchot Campaign committee of the incident of the $9,000.

"How ridiculous Senator Vane's attack on Mr. Pinchot was, is shown by Mr. Pinchot's own record," he said. "Mr. Pinchot never wanted an extra cent for himself. Mary Flinn Lawrence already has told Pittsburghers of Mr. Pinchot's plan to resign as chief forester as soon as the salary held sufficient inducement to attract expert foresters to the position. But I know how unselfish Mr. Pinchot's aims were from another angle."

"The services of an expert forester were needed in the department. No applicant presented himself who was at all suitable. The position paid only $3000 a year. It was soon evidenced to Mr. Pinchot that the services of a $12,000 a year man were needed. All the men whose training and experience fitted them for the position laughed at the idea of working for $3000 a year when private corporations paid them four and five times that much."

It was absolutely impossible to fill the position with the right kind of a man, as the salary stood. So Mr. Pinchot very quietly and unobtrusively solved the problem. He offered a man whom he believed capable $12,000. He added $9,000 of this out of his own pocket, to the $3,000. He obtained a man who gave valuable service, without costing the state more than one fourth of what the man was worth.

"You can call a man like that idealistic, but you can't call him dishonest as Senator Vane did."

Farmers, laborers, businessmen, miners, and all types of voters whose vote frequently is an unknown element, are giving undivided support to Mr. Pinchot, Senator Long said.

Senator Long has spent the last five weeks on a state wide tour, making inquiries as to the strength of Mr. Pinchot. His Pittsburgh visit was made for the purpose of reporting to the headquarters in the William Penn Hotel, conditions in the various sections of the state. Although sentiment in Pittsburgh predominates in Mr. Pinchot's favor, he said, this city is no indication of the tremendous success gained by the Pinchot forces in other parts of the state.

"This is Mr. Alter's home town," Senator Long said, Pittsburghers, however, much in favor of Mr. Pinchot have no idea of the strength of his following in other cities of the state.

"Sixty five counties out of the 67 in the state will give Mr. Pinchot the nomination. Practically all the newspapers in these counties and all the known men and women are working for him. Farmers in the country districts I visited were for him. Business men in larger cities were in favor of him because they know he will have a scientific analysis of the state's financial standing made."

"If Pennsylvania were an individual it would be bankrupt. Businessmen realize this, and know that the immense overhead expenses of the present administration must be cut down. They know, too, that unless

GRANT'S MAGNANIMITY IN VICTORY IS NEED OF NATIONS OF WORLD PRESIDENT HARDING SAYS IN CENTENARY SPEECH

Point Pleasant, Ohio, April 27.—"The nations of the world in their efforts to recover from the disastrous effects of the world war need more of the spirit of magnanimity with which General U. S. Grant welcomed victory at the close of the Civil War," President Harding said here to-day at the ceremonies commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the hero of the sixties. The President spoke from the platform in front of the little village store to a large throng that had come to this place, Grant's birthplace, to pay homage to the great General's memory. It seemed that running through the President's address was the outstanding thought that he was speaking to the nations of Europe, devastated by war and recovering slowly from its effects and the thought that he emphasized was that the resentment of war must not be perpetuated if peace is to prevail. Owing to General Grant's intimate knowledge of the horror of war, President Harding said he felt certain the General, if he were present, would sanction this nation's action in reducing armaments and striving to make war less likely.

RUSSIA GIVEN ULTIMATUM AT GENOA FRENCH REPRESENTATIVE TO LEAVE

MAUCH CHUNCK HAS REEDSVILLERS TO SPECTACULAR FIRE HAVE PLAYGROUNDS

Mauch Chunk, Pa., April 27.—Six of the city's largest buildings located on Market Square were destroyed today by fire which broke out shortly after 10:00 o'clock. The fire originated in the Theophilus Building and before fire fighting apparatus could reach the scene it had spread to adjoining buildings. The fire was still burning at noon but was under control. The damage is estimated at $150,000.

CLEARFIELD HIGH SCHOOL RELAY TEAM OFF FOR PHILADELPHIA AT NOON WILL MEET AMERICA'S BEST ATHLETES

The Clearfield High School Relay Team, which will compete in the National High School Relay Championship Race at Philadelphia on Saturday departing on the 1:05 Pennsylvania train this afternoon with the cheers and words of encouragement from the whole High School ringing in their ears. The students of the school in a body accompanied the team to the train and displayed intense enthusiasm as the gladiators boarded the train in charge of Coach Crane and Principal Kopp.

The husky athletes who will uphold Clearfield High's honor on the cinder path are: Cecil Torrence, George Bacheller, Johnnie Smith, Orvis McKendrick, captain and Hensyl Johnson.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the chapel this morning where it was announced that the merchants and business men of the town had contributed $400 for the purpose of paying the expenses of the boys to and from Philadelphia. A vote of thanks was tendered these generous supporters of the team. Dr. W. S. Piper and Dr. F. D. Leipold, of the School Board addressed the meeting and gave the team some good advice.

BURGLAR IS CAUGHT THIRD WARD SCENE REDHANDED AT WORK OF MUCH ACTIVITY IN GROCERY STORE BY SHOE TOSSERS

Special Officer Otto Eppers Surprises Man Looting Workman's Third Street Store.

NOW SAFE IN JAIL

A young man who gave his name as Frank Chapman, aged 19, and his home as Williamsport, fell a victim to the "eternal vigilance" of Private Detective Otto Eppers, who is acting as Night Patrolman of the business district through a special arrangement with the merchants.

In making his rounds about 2 o'clock this morning Otto flashed his searchlight into the window of the Third street Workman's store. As the rays of the powerful searchlight penetrated the darkened room Otto's burglar hunting eye detected a man making a fancy dive for cover behind the counter. The thief catcher quickly hustled about to the Market street side of the building and when he flooded the store room with his flashlight the burglar was disclosed crouched behind the counter.

Entrance was gained by forcing the rear window and slipping quietly to the opened window, Otto turned his light and gun onto the burglar with orders to throw up his hands. The burglar complied with the order instantly and Otto held him at the point of his gun until Chief Hitt arrived on the scene and arrested the intruder.

Chapman had piled up a bunch of etables and candy and was about ready to escape with his loot when Otto spotted him. Chapman carried a chisel, screwdriver and couple of bunch of keys. He had hid his traveling bag in the New York Central yards and Chief Hitt accompanied him down to the yard to recover it. He had 72 cents worth of stamps six or eight cakes of soap, the proceeds no doubt of a successful raid and some clothing.

Chapman was placed in the lockup and was taken to jail after a brief hearing this morning.

Community Service Getting Old Fellows in Trim for Coming City Tournament.

WORKING 6 COURTS

The Third Ward has secured the jump on the rest of Clearfield in the matter of horse shoe pitching, and there are more spectators around the games going on at Boyce's corner than you'll find along the court house curb on Saturday evening, and that's some. But the corner of Nichols and Turnpike is not the only place they're playing over on that side. Under McClellan Rowles as Chairman of the Third Ward Community Service Committee on the ancient and honorable game of horseshoes, the pegs have been planted at the following places and every one is invited to come and get practice for the tournament which will ultimately decide who will represent the Third Ward in the city meet. These are the places where they are pitching: Corner Clearfield ave. and West 9th street; corner Hannah & Barclay Sts.; on Textile Avenue on Mill Road at Paradise and Plymptonville. After the competition gets good and brisk we are going to print some of the scores; at the present time they say Otis Knepp and John Boyce are rounding into fair pitching shape in spite of the lack of spring training in the south, and that Preacher Armstrong expects to spring a surprise when he recovers his last season's precision.

COUNTY ASKED TO DEFEND ROAD SUIT

Suit was entered in Prothonotary Ralston's office yesterday against Clearfield County by Messrs. Pentz & Pentz, the DuBois Attorneys, who represent Mrs. Dolly Miller of Luthersburg, Brady township. Mrs. Miller seeks to force the County Commissioners to pay her $3000 for damages to her property by reason of the change of route of the improved State road through her property. The changing of the road ran the improved road through Mrs. Miller's house, destroying her well of water and causing other inconveniences which she asserts is worth $3000 to her.

Operators Head Replies To Brophy

Altoona, Pa., April 25, 1922
Mr. G. Webb Shillingford, President of the Central Coal Association has sent the following letter to Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor replying to statements made by the Mine Workers of Central Pennsylvania:

Hon. James J. Davis,
Secretary of Labor,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

We notice in the press a letter from John Brophy, President of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, addressed to you in which he states: "The miners of Central Pennsylvania protest respectfully but vigorously against the 2 per cent statistics of the miners' wages issued under authority of the Department of Labor," also stating that your estimated average of $1357 earnings for bituminous miners of the country for 1921 is wrong.

For your information, the Central Coal Association has made an investigation of the earnings of all employees in Central Pennsylvania, and this shows that the earnings in 1921 for mine employees in Central Pennsylvania were $1319.42 for 188 working days, or at the rate of $9.60 per day or about $1.20 per hour based upon the eight hour day.

In order to show the fallacy of Mr. Brophy's figures, we wish to quote from his own testimony given before the House of Representatives Committee on Labor, Friday, April 7, 1922, in part. The cross examination in reference to this tabulation of so-called earnings is as follows:

Mr. Nolan, Chairman: In reference to the figures that were given here figures on earnings contained in Mr. Brophy's statement I have a memorandum stating that the figures quoted do not include day laborers 85 per cent of the total cost, the amount paid for yardage and dead-work, the amount paid for car pushing, and the amount paid for extra allowances for deficient work.

Mr. Brophy: It is correct that the $24,000,000 covers the tonnage mined and day labor has not been entered into the $24,000,000 to get the total cost. When the question was asked I had in mind that you were referring to the rates paid to the tonnage workers.

The Chairman: No; what I had in mind was the total cost to all men connected with the mining of coal. Then this $24,000,000 does not take into consideration the day men?

Mr. Brophy: No.

The Chairman: And those other men who are mentioned here (in this memorandum.)

Mr. Brophy: That is correct.

The Chairman: I am glad that is straightened out.

Mr. Brophy: Yes.

Notwithstanding that Mr. Brophy was forced to admit that these figures were wrong, based upon partial information that did not include 42 per cent of the money paid to the workers in wages, he has the audacity to reiterate to another Federal Department these same figures.

WANTS TO FORM A MUSH BALL LEAGUE

Gramian, Pa. April 26, '22

Dear Editor:

Would it be too much trouble for you people to assist us in organizing a Mush Ball League.

We have a team and if you will take hold of this, we can get a six, eight or twelve team league nicely, out of our little surrounding towns.

This would be a nice way to get acquainted and know our neighbors.

We ought to be able to get a team out of every town in Clearfield Co., as most everybody can play.

Thanking you in advance, we trust to soon hear from every town in the country, large or small, with a keen interest among the men and boys.

We shall also be glad to cooperate further with you both by means of letter and through the pages of the Progress.

Yours with Pep and Good Will,

Wants Air Cops To Control Ether

Washington, D. C., April 27.—Recommendations providing for Federal control of all wireless telephones in the country were presented to Secretary Hoover today. Recommendations to be submitted to Congress provide for regulation of wave lengths and full Government authority over radio phones.

They are the final recommendations of the Government Radio Conference held here several weeks ago. The plan makes Secretary Hoover Supreme chief of "ether cops", with full authority to govern the development of the wireless phone as he sees fit. The general allocation of wave lengths provides: Trans-oceanic service, 6000 metres; fixed radio telephones, non exclusive, 3300; Government broadcasting, 2050; Air craft 1550; City and State public safety broadcasting exclusive, 285; amateur 75.

Court's Aid Again Being Sought In Mine Strike War

Somerset, Pa., April 27.—Arguments were heard in court here today on motion of local operators to make permanent the fourteen injunctions granted by Judge John E. Beskey, to halt organization work of United Mine Workers. Frank R. Lyon, Secretary of the Consolidation Companies, testified that miners' officials continued to organize locals in several fields despite the restraining order. Lyons declared his company had $4,500,000 invested in coal lands in Somerset County and in the last seven years he said the company spent $150,000 for "recreation and amusement" for the miners and $35,000 to improve their housing conditions. The Consolidation Company's fourteen mines have been non-union for nineteen years, Lyon said.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The total number of service men from New York City killed in the World War was 6944. Of these 717 were sailors or marines, according to figures just made public.

In 1907 the railroads of the United States killed 11,339 persons, of whom 4,534 were employees and 610 were passengers. Up to that year the casualties had mounted steadily; since that year they have almost as steadily decreased. In 1921, the Interstate Commerce Commission reports the total number killed was about 6,000 and of these 1,096 were employees, 205 were passengers.

The most extraordinary reduction in fatal accidents occurred in 1919, when the recorded death came down from the 9,286 of the previous twelve months to 6,978. If it is true, as has been charged so often, that the Government wrecked the roads and turned them back to their owners in bad condition, why this falling off in accidents while the Government was still in control and the amount of traffic handled was greater than before the war and why were accidents fewer last year than at any other time since 1901?

A man is "more dangerous" for women between the ages of thirty and fifty than at any other time, declares Lady Angela Forbes in an article published in London recently.

"Actually a man can be dangerous the minute that he looks at woman with the eyes of a half awakened school boy. There is no age when a man can be trusted not to make a fool of himself if the time and circumstances are on the side of the temptress," says Lady Forbes. "That lets us out, as we are just safely over the 'danger line'."

The big fat man who is trustworthy he is usually jolly and always rests easily, but beware of the man who says "Every man has his price, pay enough and he'll sell." Such a man can be bought himself and he cannot be trusted. This is the logic handed out by Frederick Whitney, vice president of the National Surety Company of New York.

Mr. Whitney further says that as he has mystified the hundreds of thousands during his life with his Nick

"I can stand the gaff no longer" as I am going out" was the message written by the creator of the famous "Nick Carter" several hours before his lifeless body was found in a hotel here, a smoking revolver lying by his side. Another letter to a friend said "I am going west, take care of my wife." Friends claimed that Dey's financial and personal affairs were in the best of condition and no reason could be discovered for his act.

SPECIAL NEWS FROM CURWENSVILLE

The Protective Home Circle, an insurance organization and a good, safe one, too, which has been holding meetings in the homes of some of its members, will meet hereafter in the Red Men's hall, on third floor of the Bilger brick block.

According to recent real estate transfers one notices that Mrs. Alice Irwin McKenzie has purchased a part of a lot facing on George and Thompson streets. Mrs. McKenzie informed the writer that a neat and convenient bungalow will be erected thereon during the summer months.

Vincent H. Snyder, who for a number of years represented the A & P. Company in this section, has resigned and has accepted a position with Chas. Eastburn, as foreman of the stone quarry. He is an old timer in that line of work and is conversant with the strata of that peculiar sand stone found in the deep ledges of the Chestnut Ridge neighborhood.

Roy Dougherty, superintendent of the Lumber City fire brick plant came down the river highway Saturday to ascertain if the town had been fenced in yet by State Highway Contractors. The plant up the river has not turned a wheel for months and there is no assurance that the wheels will be put in motion soon.

Lady members of St. Timothy Catholic church lent their labor and support in holding a food sale in the front part of one of Jimmy Sheridan's store rooms. Lots of good things were offered by which one became hungry by looking at them.

The sale gave the ladies and the object for which it was held quite a tidy sum of money.

Biographer's Chief Task
"One of the most delicate secrets of biography," says Gamaliel Bailey, in his "American Portraits 1871-1901," is the distinction between gossip and psychological and spiritual truth. Gossip, the mere accumulation of piquant but irrelevant details, may stimulate curiosity but it sates and wears in the end. But even insignificant touches, trifling actions in of words, if they are wisely chosen, may tell us more of a man's life than the most elaborate and costly of biographies. For instance, the proper use of the first plot to separate gossip from the things that really count."

Little Known Islands
The Mohave archipelago, in the Indian Ocean, several hundred miles southwest of the southern point of Hindustan, does not frequently see visitors from the civilized world. Such a visitor has recently told of these "islands." They number it appears, not less than 1400 and are all composed of coral rock. Few of them rise more than seven or eight feet above the sea level although they contain coconut palms and other vegetation. Hundreds of little islands, ranged round in a circle with narrow and shallow channels between them, form atolls, having quiet water within. Occasionally an individual island is found in the form of a ring, with a smooth lake in the center, a coral embankment—

Can You Solve the Presidents Puzzle?

Brush up on your history, folks. Solve the very latest Presidents Puzzle! You can do it if you try. To help refresh your memory I am sending a partial list of all the presidents James Bushnell, Woodrow Wilson, Butler, and B. Hayes, Warren G. Harding, Franklin Pierce, Andrew Jackson, William McKinley, Martin Van Buren, George Washington, James Garfield, Zachary Taylor, Benjamin Harrison, Abraham Lincoln, James Monroe, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Chester A. Arthur.

110 Points Wins First Prize

If you can accurately rearrange the ten great names you will receive 50 points toward winning the $1000 or five points for each correct name. You will earn 35 additional points by qualifying your answer that is by proving that you have shown a copy of The Rural Weekly to five of your friends. This will give you 85 points in all. The first 25 points will be awarded by the three judges of the puzzle who are in no way connected with the Rural Weekly, to the person who sends in the largest correct list of words made up from the letters in the names of the first president—George Washington. But DO NOT send in your list of words now. Send the answer to the puzzle first and we will tell you how to get up your list of words.

The winning answer or the one earning 110 points will receive $1000 in cash or an Oakland 1816 Touring car. The answer receiving 100 points will receive the Second Prize. There are 25 prizes in all and in case of a tie each trying contestant will receive a dental prize.

Costs Nothing to Try—$1,000 Just for You

Remember, folks, you don't have to spend any of your own money to win. No, sir! Not one penny! You won't be asked to subscribe to The Rural Weekly. All we want you to do is to help us solve the puzzle. Send your answer to five of your friends. Just a simple, easy job. We're going to be easy for you to win. Opportunity with a great big "G" is looking your way. Send your answer to the puzzle and we'll tell you how to win the $1000 that is waiting just for you. Only 110 points wins First Prize. You can get them. It's easy to get points. Start now and send in your answer. Let's correctly the ten presidents names on a piece of paper and send it in. Then we will tell you how to get the list of words made up from the letters of the first president's name. June 30 is the last day to send in your answers so don't delay!

Address All Answers to M. V. NOLAN, Dept. 50 The Rural Weekly, St. Paul, Minn.

OUR CANDIDATES
The Progress has repeatedly been asked recently by men who think this newspaper should take a definite stand for various candidates who our candidates are. The questions are framed something like this:

Who is The Progress for in the governor race? Who is the choice for Congress? Don't you think so progressive and outspoken a newspaper as yours should let the voters know just where you stand on candidates as well as policies?

Our reply is that our candidates will be the candidates nominated by the Republican voters on May 16th.

It is a newspaper custom and we believe it to be a good custom, to let the voters choose between candidates in any party primary without coercion on the part of the daily press.

We announced this policy when Mr. Fisher demanded that the people do the candidate eliminating.

Obviously, if a man of disreputable character were to offer himself for public office, it would be the duty of the press to lay the facts before the voters and to openly oppose his candidacy.

However, when men of equally good repute and of equal or nearly equal capacity for public service oppose each other in a party primary, the choice should be left with the voter.

The Progress is nominally a Republican Newspaper. It has no desire to be known as a partisan newspaper in the sense in which the term is ordinarily applied. It reserves to itself the right to oppose any Republican so poorly qualified for the office he seeks as to render him less fit for that office than the candidate of an opposing party.

There is no candidate for the Republican nomination for any important office in our county or state, however, who does not fully measure up to the qualifications demanded, so far as our observation has extended. We know of no reason why this newspaper cannot whole heartedly support any Republican candidate nominated in May.

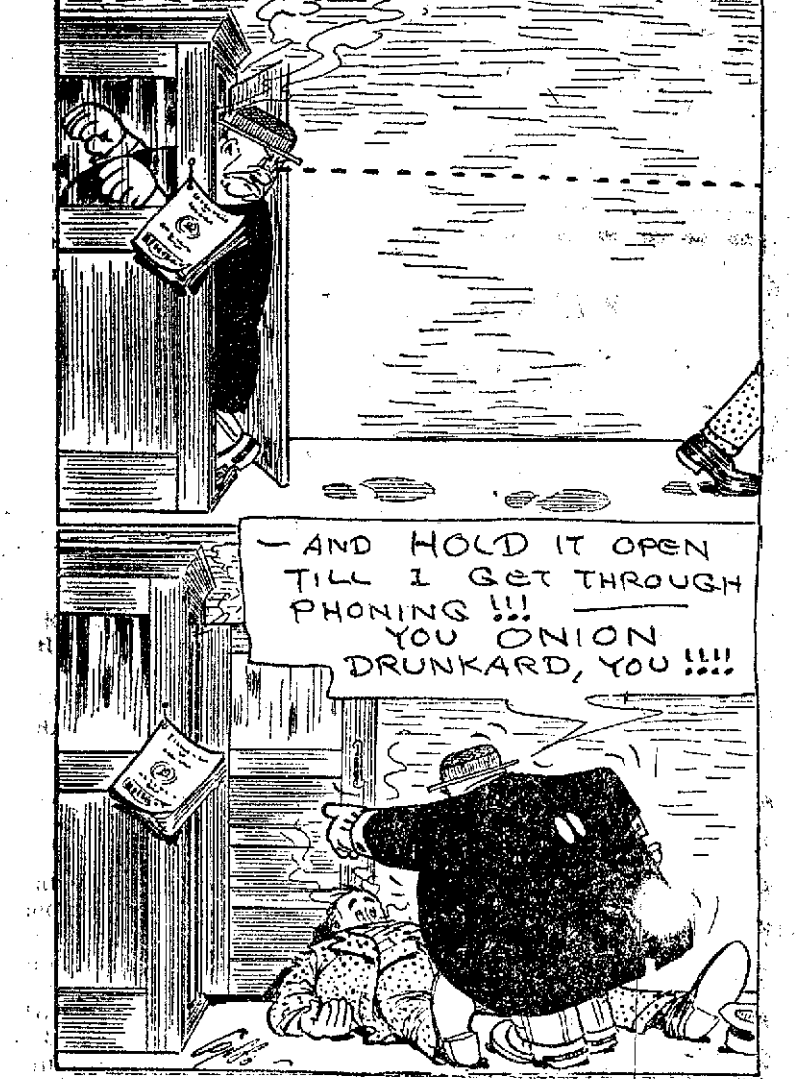

In our judgement, fair play demands that the voters be left the choice of Republican candidates. The candidates themselves are given the opportunity to present their platforms, to apprise the public of their qualifications, prior to May 16, and we believe the voters of Clearfield County to be fully competent to choose between them. To assist the voters to arrive at a conclusion The Progress will make an effort to present the campaign publicity from both the Alter and the Pinchot camps and when the time arrives we will also carry whatever Mr. McSparran has to say. Obviously, we can use only one governor, two of the three aspirants must talk themselves out of the race. May the best man win.

This is a pretty good old world for most people, but nearly everyone will acknowledge there is by far too much needless sorrow and suffering in it. It is a hopeful sign, though that more and more thought is being given to helping those who are unable to help themselves.

Right-minded people the world over are lending their efforts to end cruelty. Education is believed to be one of the best methods, and to this end the humane societies of the United States have asked the cooperation of the schools and churches and of all who have educational functions, in the observance of "Humane Week". This special period ending April 30 with observance in the churches, should have the recognition of all leaders of thought.

BIG NEWSPAPER BANGS BUNCOMBE
Philadelphia's Leading Journal Makes Political Comment.

LAUDS ATTY. GENERAL ALTER

Says He Did Not Seek Nomination and His Entry Into Campaign Was Not Accompanied by Promises to Bosses. Wears No Collar.

Philadelphia, April 25.—The neatly planned and cleverly-concocted anti-Republican organization formed with the object of making Gifford Pinchot the governor of Pennsylvania received a shocking setback the other day when the Philadelphia Bulletin, the leading newspaper of Pennsylvania and the second largest circulated newspaper on the American continent, said a few things editorially about the quality of "bull" being put out to bolster the cause of the wild forester. After commenting at some length on the action of the United States supreme court in upholding the legality of the Woner amendment to the Brooks law and stating that the opinion of the highest court of the land was a notable compliment to Attorney General Alter, the Bulletin ran the following as editorial comment:

"As for the rest of the current discussion in the campaign, it is largely bupkis. It was an open secret that the support of Governor Sprout would have been warmly welcomed in the Pinchot camp. There was no mystery of the fact that Commissioner Fisher's managers, were urgently pleading for the support of other factors now enlisted in the Alter and Pinchot cause. It was the eagerness of the early efforts of the friends of Mr. Pinchot are crossing bows, one group denouncing the wickedness of political deals and maneuvering alleged to have brought about the candidacy of Attorney General Alter, and another group shouting in glee because some of these wicked county bosses are threatening to turn on Alter as not to their liking or of their kind, and to trans fer their allegiance to Mr. Pinchot. Mr. Alter has made the definite assertion that he is bound by no promises, and the best confirmation of his word is the circumstance of his entry into the contest. He did not seek the nomination. He had once refused to have his name used. He did not bargain for support because he did not have to. He was drafted at the last moment, in response to a determined expression of public opinion that other aspirants for the nomination would not do, and that the personal interests of the factions must be subordinated by the selection of a candidate, whose personal worth and ability would command recognition. Under such circumstances a candidate wears no collar."

In Great Confusion.

This Bulletin editorial certainly threw the anti-Republican organization into a state of great confusion. Previously they tried to have the daily believe that every Philadelphia newspaper was standing behind them and that General Alter would receive no newspaper support in this city. How wrong they found themselves can best be stated in the mere assertion that the Bulletin has more circulation than all the rest of the Republican newspapers of Philadelphia, and all Philadelphia know that it wields far greater influence than the other dailies combined.

The Bulletin, unlike other Philadelphia newspapers, supporting the anti-Republican candidate, has no personal bias to try to bridge to even up the news without favor or color and does not permit itself editorially to run amuck with irresponsible statements, half-truths and reflections upon men who refuse to join the unstable element which would destroy the Republican party.

The day following the Bulletin editorial the news columns of that newspaper gave a column sketch of Attorney General Alter, stating among other things the following:

Resembles Lincoln.
"In some ways George Elias Alter, Attorney General of Pennsylvania and candidate for the gubernatorial nomination of the Republican party, reminds one of Abraham Lincoln."

"There is a vestige of the martyred president in Alter's appearance; there is a trace of analogy between the career of Lincoln and that of Alter, which began many years ago on a farm near Springdale, a suburb of Pittsburgh. It is probable nothing would please Alter, more than to be considered, to some extent, the 'Lincoln of Pennsylvania.'

"For years the Attorney General has collected Lincoln literature and data, and has studied Lincoln's life."
"Physically Alter is immense. He stands six feet four and is proportionately broad. His arms are long and his hands are big and covered on the backs with hair. They look like the hands of a man who toils, big knuckled and the fingers blunt-tipped, but they are smooth and white."

Commanding Presence.

"His shoulders are slightly rounded and when he speaks, whether to one or many persons, his piercing greyish blue eyes are fixed straight ahead. This characteristic, combined with his great height and the fullness of his voice, give him a commanding presence. During his service as speaker of the house at Harrisburg, he easily quelled the most disorderly outbursts by softly tapping with his gavel and booming: 'Remember, gentlemen, courtesy is the first rule of parliamentary practice.'"

"His face is handsome and distinguished, in a rugged, virile way. His eyes are clear and his features even and finely chiseled. There is a humorous twist to the corners of his lips. There are deep lines in his face and about his mouth, that suggest the Lincoln lines caused, perhaps, by laughter or worry or both. His thick, curly hair, dark sandy, is now changed to an ash-grey color, but his thin eyebrows are still blond."

"He dresses in dark, loose clothes and a big felt hat, all of which help to accentuate his size. This simplicity in dress, his friends say, is a simplicity which is an indication of Alter's character, a straightforward equality which refuses to be bluffed into hasty action and which seldom goes off on a false tangent."

"Alter has many friends in Harrisburg, where he has passed so much of his time during the years he has been in public service. He is probably the only attorney general who never closes his office door when he is at his desk. He still pronounces law as 'lor' and stenography is 'sten-ographee.'"

Son of a Carpenter.

"Alter, the son of Elias and Martha Alter, was born May 8, 1868. At that time his father was a carpenter and the family in modest circumstances."

"Alter worked on neighboring farms and on the land owned by his father while he was going to the public schools. 'Lengthy' George, as he was known to his schoolmates then, had the misfortune to grow into manhood with but little time to learn how to play."

"His education progressed no further than the eighth grade of public schools, and he obtained a position as stenographer and draughtsman in the office of an architect in Pittsburgh. He wanted to learn shorthand and studied assiduously until he had become expert."

"He then became a stenographer and law student in the law office of William Voss. On December 16, 1892, he was admitted to the bar."

"Alter prospered in the law. At present he is a member of the firm of Alter, Wright and Barron. To this day he has not abandoned his early training; he forced upon himself in the mastering of shorthand, for he frequently makes his own notes in court."

"In 1902 he was married to Miss Diana Ketchum, formerly of Springdale, but then living in Indianapolis. He has four children, Kathleen, 17; Frances, 15; George, 6; and David, 4. They are his chief delight and he never fails to speak of them when the subject of families is brought up. Three other children died."

"Alter's first step into public life was made when he became township auditor of Springdale. In 1905, the town developed and a city council was formed. Alter became its first president."

As Legislator and Speaker.

"He was first elected to the legislature in 1908 and the following year made his first appearance as a member at Harrisburg. He resigned as president of the Springdale city council and returned to Harrisburg in 1911 and 1912. In the session of 1913 he was speaker."

"In 1915 he was appointed on a committee of three to revise and codify the laws controlling decedents' estates. The other members of this committee were Judge Gest, of the orphans' court of Philadelphia, and Judge Baldrige, of the common pleas court of Blair county. Their work was approved by the legislature."

"Alter was made a member of the committee on constitutional amendment and revision of 1919 and 1920. In December of the latter year he was appointed Attorney General by Governor Sprout to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Attorney General Shaffer to the supreme court."

"Alter heard of his appointment over the telephone while he was recuperating from influenza in Atlantic City."

"One of the institutions in which Alter has always taken great interest and of which he is now president, is the Parting of the Ways Home in Pittsburgh. The object of this institution is to care for men immediately after their release from prison and until they obtain employment."

"For the past thirty-four years Alter has been active in the work of the Methodist church of Springdale. He has been a superintendent of the Sunday school, is still an official of the church and for thirty-two years taught a Bible class."

"He is a member of the Masonic Order and the L. O. O. F. Besides his home at Springdale, he maintains a cottage at Ocean City, N. J., where he passes each summer with his family."

Curious Scalos Used in Counter.
A short stick carrying a wide, pointed pin at each end and held up by a cord about the middle is the common trade balance of Springdale. The weight is a rock about the size of a man's fist, and while no two of the stones are ever the same size, the merchant is always prepared to pledge his honor that the stone weighs a full and exact pound. The price for a commodity is almost never fixed and the merchant is always prepared and expects to come down, somewhat from his first price. It speaks worlds for his optimism that he invariably tries to get more. The bargaining does not actually begin until you have disregarded the first figure and asked, "What is the last price?"

Stradivarius Viols.

Stradivarius was born in 1644 and died in 1737. He worked until he was over ninety years of age and turned out a large number of violins and violoncellos. Altogether, according to estimates, about one thousand violins and about three hundred other instruments are attributed to him. These other instruments include different kinds of viols, some bass viols, and also some lutes, guitars and mandolins, very exquisitely wrought. The label is a genuine Stradivarius instrument is supposed to have been made of paper. Only an expert can distinguish a genuine instrument.

Olive Brought Here From Mexico.
The olive was brought into the United States from Mexico by the early Franciscan fathers and propagated from mission to mission as they progressed northward. The gold rush came, bringing its flood of travelers from southern Europe demanding their accustomed ration of olive oil. Good prices stimulated visions of untold wealth in the minds of the western pioneers, resulting in an olive planting boom. In 1835 there were fewer than 50,000 olive trees in America. Twelve years later there were 2,000,000, planted for the most part according to European traditions on waste land and not irrigated, and of small varieties in many cases, only suitable for crushing into oil.

Bird Friend of the Rhinoceros

The rhinoceros bird is a little bird, about the size of a thrush, with which the rhinoceros makes friends. The bird perches on the animal's head or broad back, and hops about devouring the insects and vermin which torture the huge beast. These birds are also believed to warn the rhinoceros of approaching danger, because they frequently have been observed running about the animal's head, flapping their wings and uttering shrill, warning notes, the beast seeming to understand their meaning.

Melbourne's Mot.

"Who remembers when one's newspaper used to come dumpy and clammy?" Speaking of that, the story is told of Lord Melbourne in the old days meeting an editor who had attacked him in his newspaper. The editor was bundled up and remarked that he had a severe cold. "Ah!" said Lord Melbourne, "that comes from lying on damp sheets."

Oyster Enlarges Home.

An oyster enlarges its own shell. It spends its infancy in the hole where it lives in its latter days. As it grows it throws out a secretion of animal matter and carbonate of lime, which sticks to the shell, and oozes over the edges surrounding the hollow in which the creature resides. Thus, as time goes on, its home gradually becomes larger and thicker.

Fast Sailing Ships.
The fastest day's record of any sailing ship on any sea was made by the Sovereign of the Seas on a passage from San Francisco to New York, when it covered 437 miles in 24 hours. The quickest passage of a clipper ship across the Atlantic was that of the Dreadnaught, from New York, to Cape Clear, Ireland, in 12 days, in 1859.

America's Youngest Woman Explorer Returns

Gertrude Emerson, Noted Editor, Visits Buried Cities in Asia

"Miss Marco Polo"—the title earned in the Orient by adventurous Gertrude Emerson, associate editor of "Asia," for her indefatigable explorations—is safe on American soil again, to the infinite relief of her friends.

For this intrepid small person, who is just five feet tall and only weighs ninety-six pounds, went all around the world during the last two years, absolutely alone, on a still hunt for picture and story material for her magazine.

People Courteous Everywhere
Wherever she went, people were solicitous for her safety, but she waved warnings aside and blithely kept on with her exploring. She hunted tigers in Indo-China, and crocodiles in India; she traveled by elephant, camel, sampan, horse-back, motor, aeroplane and ocean liner, over so many thousands of miles that she lost count of them herself.

She visited Angkor, a buried city of Cambodia, rediscovered by the French in 1910, where only one hundred persons had ever been since. She explored the famous bat caves of the Philippines and took dangerous motor trips across Indian country that was infested with fanatical insurgents. She was the only passenger on a cargo boat, going from Port Said to Constantinople, which two months before had been held up by the Turks with resultant large death rate.

"But I wasn't scared," she offers casually. "An American woman can go anywhere and she's doing it, too, if not in person at least by way of pencil or pen.

American Music Heard 'Round The World

"For instance, there was the zippy little waltz 'Three O'clock in the Morning' to which I danced American dances in Yokohama, Paris, Bangkok and London. Dorothy Terry, an American girl, wrote the words to that, and now it's an international tune, played not only by foreign dance orchestras, but by the natives themselves on their own peculiar instruments.

"The ship's orchestra played it on my way over from London and when I got home, a phonograph in a near-by apartment greeted me with the familiar

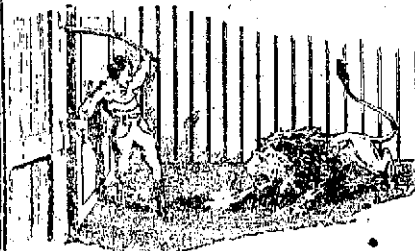

"It's three o'clock in the morning. We've danced the whole night through. And daylight will soon be dawning. Just one more waltz with you."

"It was hard for me to realize that I was really at home again."

Brain Alters Position.

There is no doubt that the normal brain obeys the law of gravity, and alters its position with varying positions of the head. Every organ of the body possesses a degree of mobility proportional to the extent to which it is covered by a serious membrane separating it from the wall of the cavity which contains it. Whenever the skull and dura are widely opened during an operation, movements of the brain can be demonstrated by altering the position of the head, and although the movement is probably exaggerated, it is of the different physical nature which obtain in the open as compared with the closed skull, there is no reason to suppose that all movement is absent when the skull is closed.—Percy Sargent in "Brain."

Mr. Jenkins Took a Cracked Club To Tame Lions

The exhibition ended rather badly. It very nearly was a big day for the lions and a sad day for Mr. Jenkins—all for want of proper care in getting ready.

Many a man who has business to do and a living to make and a job to fill is as careless how he feeds his body as Mr. Jenkins was in picking out a club.

Some foods are too heavy, some are too starchy, many lack necessary elements and so starve the body—and many load the system down with fermentation and auto-intoxication.

Grape-Nuts helps build health and strength. It contains the full richness of wheat and malted barley, including the vital mineral elements, without which the body cannot be fully sustained. Grape-

Nuts digests quickly and wholesomely. Served with cream or good milk, it is a complete food—crisp and delicious.

Grape-Nuts is just the food for those who care to meet life's situations well prepared in health. Order Grape-Nuts from your grocer today. Try it with cream or milk for breakfast or lunch, or made into a delightful pudding for dinner.

Two Hundred Dollars Per Week Cost of New York Baby's Lullaby

Slumber Song Carrolled Nightly by Mother Over Long Distance Tele- phone Delights Infant

A small New York boy aged one is said to enjoy the most expensive and exclusive "song at twilight" ceremony of any baby in the world.

The sleepy-time melody is sung by the youngster's mother, one of the highest-salaried of all vaudeville stars and it comes over long distance telephone every day no matter how many the miles between the singer and her unique audience.

Actress An Old Fashioned Mother

Belle Baker, who has devised this method of reminding Herbert John, her only child, of his mother when she is absent from him, is known in theatrical circles as one of those parents who when croup is pitted against a career, lets the career go hang until the croup is conquered.

But recently, for the first time since the birth of her son, her career compelled her to leave the city for a tour through the south and middle west and even along the distant coast.

Was Herbert John, who has now reached the age of discrimination, to be cheated of the lullaby over which he had been nightly cooling and gurgling? Not while he has ingenious Belle Baker for a mother.

"I'll sing that blessed 'Ten Little Fingers and Ten Little Toes' for him every night, no matter how far away I am," she calmly told his nurse.

When Distance Means Nothing
So she does and so she has and no matter if she's in Kalamazoo, Chicago or San Francisco, just when Herbert John is getting ready for bed, the telephone rings, the receiver is held to the small boy's ear and he hears these familiar jazz lullaby strains sung by a beloved voice:

©Leo. Feist Inc.
"I've got ten little fingers, and ten little toes, Waiting down in Tennessee — for me!"

"And I'm telling you the truth," his nurse says proudly. "He kicks and gurgles and tries to sing with her!"

Herbert John's Lullaby Private
"No'm, Miss Belle won't sing over the radio. She says everybody could listen in and that would be just what she does all day, singing for crowds. This is just for her baby, she says, and he's the only one that's going to hear his favorite song. She's got it down, too, so that it just fits into four minutes.

"And then do you know, that baby closes his eyes and goes right to sleep? Yes, ma'am, he just waits for that song and his maw every night and after he hears it he knows it's his bedtime."

CURWENSVILLE

Pennsylvania Music Week will be celebrated in the schools next week. The Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg has issued a pamphlet on Community singing, advocating more attention to music in the Public Schools. In our schools here this has been sadly neglected for several years. So next week special attention shall be given to community singing. We are taught to "Sing and the hills will answer." On Tuesday night of next week Prof. George E. Croyle, Assistant Principal of our schools will conduct a "Song Fest" in the Methodist church. This will not be for schools alone but for the entire community. All the churches and societies of the town are invited to be present at this song fest. Let each organization come and bring at least one song. Opportunity will be given to any society or individual to sing. If you can sing, come and help! If you can only sing a little bit, come and do your best! And if you can't sing at all, come and hear the others try it. A good time is promised and you will enjoy it.

The elementary schools are now getting ready to close up their work for the year. Eight months of school will be over next Thursday. As this is the term of the elementary schools in Curwensville we are soon to see the teachers of these grades and the prattle of the little ones on the streets. Truly we shall miss them. But before we realize, the school bell will be ringing for them next September. The grammar grades and high school will close their work on June 2nd. The Baccalaureate service will be preached by Rev. Bertram H. Conley in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, May 28th, and commencement will be held Wednesday evening, May 31st, in the Opera House.

I. It is to be hoped, that, at least, a large percentage of our teachers will return for they have proven 100% efficient. But this feature of their report lies with our very capable Board of Education.

On Friday evening of this week the three literary societies will hold an open meeting in the high school study hall at 8 o'clock. You and your ten cents are invited to this meeting.

It is the first public meeting of the kind this year. The program will consist of recitations, essays, orations, debate and "The Paper." Many other incidental performances will be introduced. These societies have done earnest, sincere work during the present term and are deserving of all the encouragement the patrons can give them.

Supt. T. S. Davis, of the Blair County Public Schools who visited our schools this week expressed himself as very well pleased with the work and the results.

Supt. Davis makes it a practice to visit many of the best schools of the state each year. This year Curwensville got on his calendar. While here he addressed the teachers in a special meeting. Supt. Davis is one of the most distinguished educators of the state and Curwensville is greatly honored by his visitation here. He says that more of his teachers and pupils know of Curwensville than of any other town in Clearfield county and that there will be other distinguished visitors from Blair county here to observe and to learn.

The High School outlined the last recitation period in the afternoon and assembled with the seventh and eighth grades to hear Supt. Davis. Director Dr. H. O. King, brought Supt. Davis to the platform and gave the exercises his official support and approval. At the close of Supt. Davis's most interesting lecture he recited the poem entitled "The September Gale" to the delight and pleasure of all present.

Mr. Robinson will conduct another of his most profitable spelling matches on Friday afternoon of this week in the high school study hall. The words will be selected from the lists already given. In fact it will be a sort of a review test. Mr. Robinson believes in reviews and drills. He says that the greatest lessons of his life were drilled into him, even to the hunting point.

Prof. J. W. Yoder, of Juniata College, paid the high school a visit on Wednesday. Prof. Yoder is author of the song "Pennsylvania," the best Pennsylvania song ever written. He sang a number of selections to the high school and then led in the singing of his own song. Prof. Yoder was the County Institute Instructor in Music last fall. He is one of the greatest leaders in Music in the State. Our high school felt distinctly honored by his visit and as a result will enter these distinguished visitors to return at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Swamp have returned to "The Homestead" after a delightful winter in Philadelphia. Both are well and glad to come and are being welcomed by their many friends here. After all "East, West, Home's Best."

Mrs. Wesley Outheart, of Olaton, shipped in town today.

Mrs. Chas. Riddle, of Bloomington, is visiting her mother Mrs. Shaffer.

Mrs. S. C. Kirk, of Clearfield, spent part of Wednesday with her sister, Miss Bertha Lillard, who has been ill for a few days and unable to take charge of her school room.

The funeral of Emanuel West, who died yesterday morning, will be held from his late residence on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. C. Collins officiating.

Mrs. Dora Helper, of Grampian, was a Curwensville shopper on Wednesday.

Mrs. H. Heltzenrath of Grampian spent yesterday with friends here. Mrs. John Rowan, of the South Side is quite ill with pneumonia.

Miss Ida Robinson is recovering from an attack of flu.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Soldiers Memorial Tablet will be given under the auspices of the Auxiliary of the American Legion, Monday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged.

Mr. Weber's Bible Class of the M. E. church will hold a business meeting and social in the "Teen Age Department" on Friday night at 8 o'clock.

SHAWVILLE

Miss Georgia Buck attended the examination of the Eighth Grade in Clearfield on Saturday.

J. C. Smith was a caller at the parsonage on Tuesday.

Communion Services were administered in the Goshen M. E. church on Sunday morning.

Steps are being taken to build a new church at Goshen this spring. One man has subscribed five hundred dollars and there are others to follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Condon, of Eden, are proud parents of a bouncing baby boy. The child and its mother are doing fine.

No services in Eden church on Easter because the pastor was called to make an address in the Congress Hill Easter service.

Gillingham M. E. church looks fine with its new coat of paint. Hainseys are the contractors and painters.

Congress Hill officials will paint their church in the very near future, and make some much needed improvements.

Shawville Sunday school is growing. Fifty-five present Sunday. Wilbert Mahew is the Supt.

Special Evangelistic Services beginning May 7th. Inst. Several speakers will assist the pastor.

Miss Edith Buck who has been employed at the M. E. parsonage has secured a position at Kurtz Bros. in Clearfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell are visiting at the parsonage. Mrs. Campbell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Note.

The Rev. and Mrs. Van Note were at dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith at Congress Hill on Saturday.

Prof. H. D. Minard's entertainment at Congress Hill on Tuesday of this week was fine.

Four new candidates were initiated in the grange last Thursday night. They were Joseph Morris, Grant Sankey, Henry Kyler and Mrs. Henry Kyler.

Codfish as Old as History.
Codfish is said to be the world's most important—which means the most eaten—fish. Few fish are more prolific. It has been asserted that one weighing 75 pounds will contain over 5,000,000 eggs. The cod is practically omnivorous, feeding means to supply great schools wherever food of any sort is found. It is found in many parts of the world other than the North American "banks," and it is said that it has been fished for by fishermen of northern Europe since the beginning of recorded history and, of course, for uncountable centuries before man began to make written records.

Blow for the Minister.
In a certain church one of the duties of the old sexton was to pump the organ. The man was deaf and perhaps on that account had fallen into the somewhat embarrassing habit of abruptly quitting his task before a hymn was ended. One Sunday a new minister was coming, and since he was young and unmarried, the young lady who played the organ naturally wanted to appear to the best advantage. As soon as the service had begun she wrote a note and, handing it to the sexton, told him to read it at once. Evidently the old man did not correctly catch his words, for to her horror she saw him go to the minister right after the first hymn and hand him the note. The minister opened it and read: "Keep blowing steadily away until I tell you to stop."—Youth's Companion.

Brief and Comprehensive.

Recently he detailed one of his teamsters with a wagon and pair to take a San Francisco man and wife to their country place a few miles out of town. The bill, as rendered by the teamster, read: "Haul grip, grub, and people, three hours, three dollars."

JORDAN'S

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY

Gallo, deputy of Achaia, mentioned in Acts XVIII, 12-17, is well known in Roman history. Greece, like about all the countries bordering on the Mediterranean sea, was a part of the Roman empire, and the southern part of Greece with the adjacent islands formed one province known as Achaia. At the time of St. Paul Achaia was a senatorial province, that is, one administered by the senate and not by the emperor, and the title of the local ruler was proconsul. At the time referred to in that chapter of Acts the proconsul was Gallo, but in our English version of the Book of Acts the title is translated deputy. The seat of his government was in the city of Corinth, in which St. Paul founded a church to which he wrote two letters.

Porridge Makes Scots Sturdy.
Has porridge made Scots sturdy? New light has been thrown upon this subject by the discovery within the last few years that porridge may have a strong effect upon the mysterious pituitary gland—which is a small organ at the base of the brain, determining our size and physical characteristics. If this little chemical factory is too active we are liable to become giants; if it does not work hard enough we may be Tom Thumbs. Some doctors now say that porridge makes the gland work in such a way as to produce the high cheek bones and splendid bodies which are the trademark of the Scot.

Sir Ernest's Story.
Sir Ernest Shackleton was always fond of a good story. Here is one that he used to tell about himself. A gushing lady had been introduced to him and began at once to talk about his voyages. "I always think," she said, "that one must have such wonderful dreams while leading that kind of life." "Beautiful dreams, indeed," said Sir Ernest. "Oh, do tell me, now, what you used to dream about in the Antarctic?" "Dreams of pudding," answered the explorer.—London Tit-Bits.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards' spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

10,000 People Are Homeless In Flood Disaster

LATEST BREAK IN MISSISSIPPI LEVEE INUNDATES 70,000 ACRES OF TRUCK LAND CAUSING MILLIONS IN LOSSES

New Orleans, La., April 27.—10,000 people are homeless and sixty to seventy thousand acres of valuable farming lands are being inundated to-day as the result of a 400 foot crevasse in the Mississippi levee at Poydras, ten miles below this city. The waters are sweeping an area five miles wide in a straight line for Lake Borgne, twenty miles distant. Thousands of refugees, according to reports reaching here are fleeing to Shell Beach, on Lake Borgne, where boats are waiting to take them to places of safety.

New Orleans, La., April 27.—A break from 150 to 200 feet occurred in the Mississippi river levee at Poydras, according to reports here. The point at which the break occurred is a truck farming section and rather densely populated and it is feared here that a serious break may mean the loss of many lives.

DEFENSE GAINS IN MINERS TRIAL

Charlestown, West Va., April 27.—Fifty-seven officials and forty-five locals of the United Mine Workers of America in West Virginia were listed today by the prosecution in the treason trials as contributors to the miners' war fund in the march on Logan County. The list was in answer to the demand of the defense for an amplification of the bill of particulars in the case of William Blizard, one of the miners' leaders. The list narrows the treason cases materially. Under the original indictment the defense would have been forced to summon witnesses from 680 locals to combat the state's blanket charges that Blizard gathered a "war chest" from the union officials with which to wage war against the state.

ROAD CONTRACTS WERE AWARDED

Contracts for the building of the piece of road in Bradford township which runs from the Pennsylvania railroad crossing through the village of Bigler, was given to Warren Bros the low bidders, by the State Highway Department at Harrisburg yesterday. The road will cost $30,070.15. The piece through Mahaffey borough was also awarded to the Burnside Construction Co., at their bid of $33,362.38. Both jobs are county road jobs the districts affected paying one-fourth the cost of construction.

GIFFORD PINCHOT FINANCED EXPERT FOR HIS DEPARTMENT

State Senator Long Replies To Vane Criticism of State Forester's Salary Increase.

SEES PINCHOT WIN

So far from conducting his forestry department upon a basis of waste of Pennsylvania's money, as charged by Senator William Vane, it was discovered last night that Gifford Pinchot paid $9,000 of his own money to an expert forester when the salary allowed by the state administration was not enough.

State Senator, D. Edward Long, who arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon and left last night told members of the Pinchot Campaign committee of the incident of the $9,000.

"How ridiculous Senator Vane's attack on Mr. Pinchot was, is shown by Mr. Pinchot's own record," he said. "Mr. Pinchot never wanted an extra cent for himself. Mary Flinn Lawrence already has told Pittsburghers of Mr. Pinchot's plan to resign as chief forester as soon as the salary held sufficient inducement to attract expert foresters to the position. But I know how unselfish Mr. Pinchot's aims were from another angle."

"The services of an expert forester were needed in the department. No applicant presented himself who was at all suitable. The position paid only $3000 a year. It was soon evidenced to Mr. Pinchot that the services of a $12,000 a year man were needed. All the men whose training and experience fitted them for the position laughed at the idea of working for $3000 a year when private corporations paid them four and five times that much."

It was absolutely impossible to fill the position with the right kind of a man, as the salary stood. So Mr. Pinchot very quietly and unobtrusively solved the problem. He offered a man whom he believed capable $12,000. He added $9,000 of this out of his own pocket, to the $3,000. He obtained a man who gave valuable service, without costing the state more than one fourth of what the man was worth.

"You can call a man like that idealistic, but you can't call him dishonest as Senator Vane did."

Farmers, laborers, businessmen, miners, and all types of voters whose vote frequently is an unknown element, are giving undivided support to Mr. Pinchot, Senator Long said.

Senator Long has spent the last five weeks on a state wide tour, making inquiries as to the strength of Mr. Pinchot. His Pittsburgh visit was made for the purpose of reporting to the headquarters in the William Penn Hotel, conditions in the various sections of the state. Although sentiment in Pittsburgh predominates in Mr. Pinchot's favor, he said, this city is no indication of the tremendous success gained by the Pinchot forces in other parts of the state.

"This is Mr. Alter's home town," Senator Long said, Pittsburghers, however, much in favor of Mr. Pinchot have no idea of the strength of his following in other cities of the state.

"Sixty five counties out of the 67 in the state will give Mr. Pinchot the nomination. Practically all the news papers in these counties and all the known men and women are working for him. Farmers in the country districts I visited were for him. Business men in larger cities were in favor of him because they know he will have a scientific analysis of the state's financial standing made."

"If Pennsylvania were an individual it would be bankrupt. Businessmen realize this, and know that the immense overhead expenses of the present administration must be cut down. They know, too, that unless

GRANT'S MAGNANIMITY IN VICTORY IS NEED OF NATIONS OF WORLD PRESIDENT HARDING SAYS IN CENTENARY SPEECH

Point Pleasant, Ohio, April 27.—"The nations of the world in their efforts to recover from the disastrous effects of the world war need more of the spirit of magnanimity with which General U. S. Grant welcomed victory at the close of the Civil War," President Harding said here to-day at the ceremonies commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the hero of the sixties. The President spoke from the platform in front of the little village store to a large throng that had come to this place, Grant's birthplace, to pay homage to the great General's memory. It seemed that running through the President's address was the outstanding thought that he was speaking to the nations of Europe, devastated by war and recovering slowly from its effects and the thought that he emphasized was that the resentment of war must not be perpetuated if peace is to prevail. Owing to General Grant's intimate knowledge of the horror of war, President Harding said he felt certain the General, if he were present, would sanction this nation's action in reducing armaments and striving to make war less likely.

MAUCH CHUNCK HAS REEDSVILLERS TO SPECTACULAR FIRE

Mauch Chunk, Pa., April 27.—Six of the city's largest buildings located on Market Square were destroyed today by fire which broke out shortly after 10:00 o'clock. The fire originated in the Theophilus Building and before fire fighting apparatus could reach the scene it had spread to adjoining buildings. The fire was still burning at noon but was under control. The damage is estimated at $150,000.

CLEARFIELD HIGH SCHOOL RELAY TEAM OFF FOR PHILADELPHIA AT NOON WILL MEET AMERICA'S BEST ATHLETES

The Clearfield High School Relay Team, which will compete in the National High School Relay Championship Race at Philadelphia on Saturday departing on the 1:05 Pennsylvania train this afternoon with the cheers and words of encouragement from the whole High School ringing in their ears. The students of the school in a body accompanied the team to the train and displayed intense enthusiasm as the gladiators boarded the train in charge of Coach Crane and Principal Kopp.

The husky athletes who will uphold Clearfield High's honor on the cinder path are: Cecil Torrence, George Bacheller, Johnnie Smith, Orvis McKendrick, captain and Hensyl Johnson.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the chapel this morning where it was announced that the merchants and business men of the town had contributed $400 for the purpose of paying the expenses of the boys to and from Philadelphia. A vote of thanks was tendered these generous supporters of the team. Dr. W. S. Piper and Dr. F. D. Leipold, of the School Board addressed the meeting and gave the team some good advice.

BURGLAR IS CAUGHT THIRD WARD SCENE REDHANDED AT WORK OF MUCH ACTIVITY IN GROCERY STORE BY SHOE TOSSERS

Special Officer Otto Eppers Surprises Man Looting Workman's Third Street Store.

NOW SAFE IN JAIL WORKING 6 COURTS

A young man who gave his name as Frank Chapman, aged 19, and his home as Williamsport, fell a victim to the "eternal vigilance" of Private Detective Otto Eppers, who is acting as Night Patrolman of the business district through a special arrangement with the merchants.

In making his rounds about 2 o'clock this morning Otto flashed his searchlight into the window of the Third street Workman's store. As the rays of the powerful searchlight penetrated the darkened room Otto's burglar hunting eye detected a man making a fancy dive for cover behind the counter. The thief catcher quickly hustled about to the Market street side of the building and when he flooded the store room with his flashlight the burglar was disclosed crouched behind the counter.

Entrance was gained by forcing the rear window and slipping quietly to the opened window, Otto turned his light and gun onto the burglar with orders to throw up his hands. The burglar complied with the order instantly and Otto held him at the point of his gun until Chief Hitt arrived on the scene and arrested the intruder.

Chapman had piled up a bunch of etables and candy and was about ready to escape with his loot when Otto spotted him. Chapman carried a chisel, screwdriver and couple of bunch of keys. He had hid his traveling bag in the New York Central yards and Chief Hitt accompanied him down to the yard to recover it. He had 72 cents worth of stamps six or eight cakes of soap, the proceeds no doubt of a successful raid and some clothing.

Chapman was placed in the lockup and was taken to jail after a brief hearing this morning.

COUNTY ASKED TO DEFEND ROAD SUIT

Suit was entered in Prothonotary Ralston's office yesterday against Clearfield County by Messrs. Pentz & Pentz, the DuBois Attorneys, who represent Mrs. Dolly Miller of Luthersburg, Brady township. Mrs. Miller seeks to force the County Commissioners to pay her $3000 for damages to her property by reason of the change of route of the improved State road through her property. The changing of the road ran the improved road through Mrs. Miller's house, destroying her well of water and causing other inconveniences which she asserts is worth $3000 to her.

Operators Head Replies To Brophy

Altoona, Pa., April 25, 1922
Mr. G. Webb Shillingford, President of the Central Coal Association has sent the following letter to Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor replying to statements made by the Mine Workers of Central Pennsylvania:

Hon. James J. Davis,
Secretary of Labor,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

We notice in the press a letter from John Brophy, President of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, addressed to you in which he states: "The miners of Central Pennsylvania protest respectfully but vigorously against the 2 per cent statistics of the miners' wages issued under authority of the Department of Labor," also stating that your estimated average of $1357 earnings for bituminous miners of the country for 1921 is wrong.

For your information, the Central Coal Association has made an investigation of the earnings of all employees in Central Pennsylvania, and this shows that the earnings in 1921 for mine employees in Central Pennsylvania were $1319.42 for 188 working days, or at the rate of $9.60 per day or about $1.20 per hour based upon the eight hour day.

In order to show the fallacy of Mr. Brophy's figures, we wish to quote from his own testimony given before the House of Representatives Committee on Labor, Friday, April 7, 1922, in part. The cross examination in reference to this tabulation of so-called earnings is as follows:

Mr. Nolan, Chairman: In reference to the figures that were given here figures on earnings contained in Mr. Brophy's statement I have a memorandum stating that the figures quoted do not include day laborers 85 per cent of the total cost, the amount paid for yardage and dead-work, the amount paid for car pushing, and the amount paid for extra allowances for deficient work.

Mr. Brophy: It is correct that the $24,000,000 covers the tonnage mined and day labor has not been entered into the $24,000,000 to get the total cost. When the question was asked I had in mind that you were referring to the rates paid to the tonnage workers.

The Chairman: No; what I had in mind was the total cost to all men connected with the mining of coal. Then this $24,000,000 does not take into consideration the day men?

Mr. Brophy: No.
The Chairman: And those other men who are mentioned here (in this memorandum.)
Mr. Brophy: That is correct.
The Chairman: I am glad that is straightened out.
Mr. Brophy: Yes.
Notwithstanding that Mr. Brophy was forced to admit that these figures were wrong, based upon partial information that did not include 42 per cent of the money paid to the workers in wages, he has the audacity to reiterate to another Federal Department these same figures.

WANTS TO FORM A MUSH BALL LEAGUE

Dear Editor:
Would it be too much trouble for you people to assist us in organizing a Mush Ball League.
We have a team and if you will take hold of this, we can get a six, eight or twelve team league nicely, out of our little surrounding towns.
This would be a nice way to get acquainted and know our neighbors.
We ought to be able to get a team out of every town in Clearfield Co., as most everybody can play.
Thanking you in advance, we trust to soon hear from every town in the country, large or small, with a keen interest among the men and boys.
We shall also be glad to cooperate further with you both by means of letter and through the pages of the Progress.
Yours with Pep and Good Will,

Genoa, Italy, April 27.—The Allies note to Russia, virtually an ultimatum was completed today and will be delivered tomorrow. The Allies demand a categorical statement of the Soviet position and straightforward answers on the subject of property rights in Russia, payment of Russian debts and other matters upon which the Bolsheviks have been issuing conflicting statements.

Paris, France, April 27.—Louis Barthou, head of the French Delegation at Genoa, is to leave the conference Saturday and come to Paris to confer with Premier Poincare. It was semi-officially stated today. At the same time the French office denied that French troops are preparing to advance into the Ruhr valley.

Wants Air Cops To Control Ether

Washington, D. C., April 27.—Recommendations providing for Federal control of all wireless telephones in the country were presented to Secretary Hoover today. Recommendations to be submitted to Congress provide for regulation of wave lengths and full Government authority over radio phones.
They are the final recommendations of the Government Radio Conference held here several weeks ago. The plan makes Secretary Hoover Supreme chief of "ether cops", with full authority to govern the development of the wireless phone as he sees fit. The general allocation of wave lengths provides: Trans-oceanic service, 6000 metres; fixed radio telephones, non exclusive, 3300; Government broadcasting, 2050; Air craft 1550; City and State public safety broadcasting exclusive, 285; amateur 75.

Court's Aid Again Being Sought In Mine Strike War

Somerset, Pa., April 27.—Arguments were heard in court here today on motion of local operators to make permanent the fourteen injunctions granted by Judge John E. Beskey, to halt organization work of United Mine Workers. Frank R. Lyon, Secretary of the Consolidation Companies, testified that miners' officials continued to organize locals in several fields despite the restraining order. Lyons declared his company had $4,500,000 invested in coal lands in Somerset County and in the last seven years he said the Company spent $150,000 for "recreation and amusement" for the miners and $35,000 to improve their housing conditions. The Consolidation Company's fourteen mines have been non-union for nineteen years, Lyon said.

Paris, France, April 27.—Former President Deschanel, of France, was today reported to be critically ill with grippe and congestion of the lungs.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The total number of service men from New York City killed in the World War was 6944. Of these 717 were sailors or marines, according to figures just made public.

In 1907 the railroads of the United States killed 11,339 persons, of whom 4,534 were employees and 610 were passengers. Up to that year the casualties had mounted steadily; since that year they have almost as steadily decreased. In 1921, the Interstate Commerce Commission reports the total number killed was about 6,000 and of these 1,096 were employees, 205 were passengers.

The most extraordinary reduction in fatal accidents occurred in 1919, when the recorded death came down from the 9,286 of the previous twelve months to 6,978. If it is true, as has been charged so often, that the Government wrecked the roads and turned them back to their owners in bad condition, why this falling off in accidents while the Government was still in control and the amount of traffic handled was greater than before the war and why were accidents fewer last year than at any other time since 1901?

A man is "more dangerous" for women between the ages of thirty and fifty than at any other time, declares Lady Angela Forbes in an article published in London recently.

"Actually a man can be dangerous the minute that he looks at woman with the eyes of a half awakened school boy. There is no age when a man can be trusted not to make a fool of himself if the time and circumstances are on the side of the temptress," says Lady Forbes. "That lets us out, as we are just safely over the 'danger line'."

The big fat man who is trustworthy he is usually jolly and always rests easily, but beware of the man who says "Every man has his price, pay enough and he'll sell." Such a man can be bought himself and he cannot be trusted. This is the logic handed out by Frederick Whitney, vice president of the National Surety Company of New York.

Mr. Withey further says that as he has mystified the hundreds of thousands during his life with his Nick

SPECIAL NEWS FROM CURWENSVILLE

The Protective Home Circle, an insurance organization and a good, safe one, too, which has been holding meetings in the homes of some of its members, will meet hereafter in the Red Men's hall, on third floor of the Bilger brick block.

According to recent real estate transfers one notices that Mrs. Alice Irwin McKenzie has purchased a part of a lot facing on George and Thompson streets. Mrs. McKenzie informed the writer that a neat and convenient bungalow will be erected thereon during the summer months.

The sale gave the ladies and the object for which it was held quite a tidy sum of money.

Biographer's Chief Task
"One of the most delicate secrets of biography," says Gamaliel Bailey, in his "American Portraits 1871-1901," is the distinction between gossip and psychological and spiritual truth. Gossip, the mere accumulation of piquant but irrelevant details, may stimulate curiosity but it sates and wears in the end. But even insignificant touches, trifling actions in of words, if they are wisely chosen, may tell us more of a man's life than the most elaborate and costly portrait painting could do. It is the proper task of the biographer to separate gossip from the things that really count."

Little Known Islands
The Maldives, a group of islands in the Indian Ocean, several hundred miles southwest of the southern point of Hindustan, does not frequently see visitors from the civilized world. Such a visitor has recently told of these islands. They number it appears, not less than 1400 and are all composed of coral rock. Few of them rise more than seven or eight feet above the sea level although they contain coconut palms and other vegetation. Hundreds of little islands, ranged round in a circle with narrow and shallow channels between them, form atolls, having quiet water within. Occasionally an individual island is found in the form of a ring, with a smooth lake in the center, a coral embankment—

Can You Solve the Presidents Puzzle?

Brush up on your history, folks. Solve the very latest Presidents Puzzle. You can do it if you try. To help refresh your memory I am sending a partial list of all the presidents. James Bushnell, Woodrow Wilson, Butler, and B. Hayes, Warren G. Harding, Franklin Pierce, Andrew Jackson, William McKinley, Martin Van Buren, George Washington, James Garfield, Zachary Taylor, Benjamin Harrison, Abraham Lincoln, James Monroe, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Chester A. Arthur.

110 Points Wins First Prize

If you can accurately rearrange the ten great names you will receive 50 points toward winning the $1000 or five points for each correct name. You will earn 35 additional points by qualifying your answer that is by proving that you have shown a copy of The Rural Weekly to five of your friends. This will give you 85 points in all. The final 25 points will be awarded by the three judges of the puzzle who are in no way connected with the puzzle (who are in no way connected with the puzzle) to the person who sends in the largest correct list of words made up from the letters in the names of the first president—George Washington. But DO NOT send in your list of words now. Send the answer to the puzzle first and we will tell you how to get up your list of words.

The winning answer or the one earning 110 points will receive $1000 in cash or an Oakland 1816 Touring car. The answer receiving 100 points will receive the Second Prize. There are 25 prizes in all and in case of a tie each tying contestant will receive a dental prize.

Costs Nothing to Try—$1,000 Just for You

Remember, folks, you don't have to spend any of your own money to win. No, sir! Not one penny. And you won't be asked to subscribe to The Rural Weekly. All we want you to do is to help us interest The Rural Weekly to five of your friends. That's simple, isn't it? We're going to be easy for you to win. Opportunity with a great big "G" is looking your way. Send your answer to the puzzle and we'll tell you how to win the $1000 that is waiting just for you. Only 110 points wins First Prize. You can get them. It's easy to get points. Start now and send in your answer. Let's correctly list the ten presidents in no time on a piece of paper and send it in. Then we will tell you how to get the list of words made up from the letters of the first president's name. June 30 is the last day to send in your answers so don't delay.

OUR CANDIDATES
The Progress has repeatedly been asked recently by men who think this newspaper should take a definite stand for various candidates who our candidates are. The questions are framed something like this:

Who is The Progress for in the governor race? Who is the choice for Congress? Don't you think so progressive and outspoken a newspaper as yours should let the voters know just where you stand on candidates as well as policies?

Our reply is that our candidates will be the candidates nominated by the Republican voters on May 16th.

It is a newspaper custom and we believe it to be a good custom, to let the voters choose between candidates in any party primary without coercion on the part of the daily press.

We announced this policy when Mr. Fisher demanded that the people do the candidate eliminating.

Obviously, if a man of disreputable character were to offer himself for public office, it would be the duty of the press to lay the facts before the voters and to openly oppose his candidacy.

However, when men of equally good repute and of equal or nearly equal capacity for public service oppose each other in a party primary, the choice should be left with the voter.

The Progress is nominally a Republican Newspaper. It has no desire to be known as a partisan newspaper in the sense in which the term is ordinarily applied. It reserves to itself the right to oppose any Republican so poorly qualified for the office he seeks as to render him less fit for that office than the candidate of an opposing party.

There is no candidate for the Republican nomination for any important office in our county or state, however, who does not fully measure up to the qualifications demanded, so far as our observation has extended. We know of no reason why this newspaper cannot whole heartedly support any Republican candidate nominated in May.

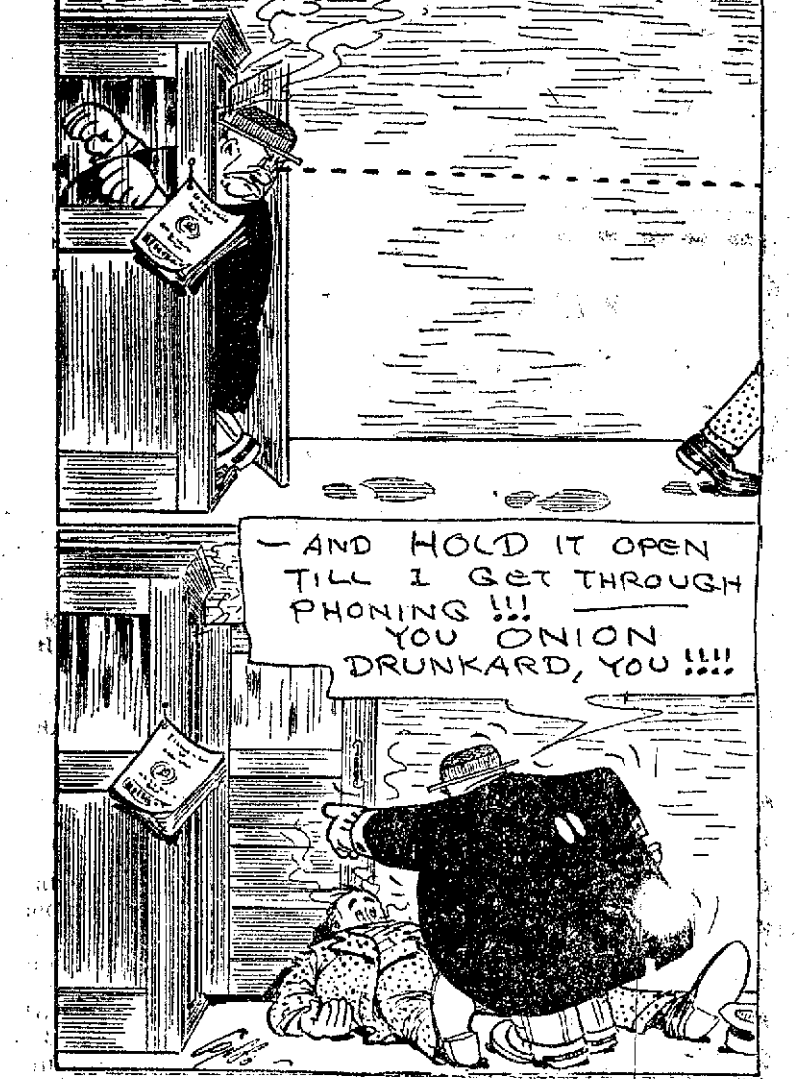

In our judgement, fair play demands that the voters be left the choice of Republican candidates. The candidates themselves are given the opportunity to present their platforms, to apprise the public of their qualifications, prior to May 16, and we believe the voters of Clearfield County to be fully competent to choose between them. To assist the voters to arrive at a conclusion The Progress will make an effort to present the campaign publicity from both the Alter and the Pinchot camps and when the time arrives we will also carry whatever Mr. McSparran has to say. Obviously, we can use only one governor, two of the three aspirants must talk themselves out of the race. May the best man win.

This is a pretty good old world for most people, but nearly everyone will acknowledge there is by far too much needless sorrow and suffering in it. It is a hopeful sign, though that more and more thought is being given to helping those who are unable to help themselves.

Right-minded people the world over are lending their efforts to end cruelty. Education is believed to be one of the best methods, and to this end the humane societies of the United States have asked the cooperation of he schools and churches and of all who have educational functions, in the observance of "Humane Week". This special period ending April 30 with observance in the churches, should have the recognition of all leaders of thought.

Philadelphia's Leading Journal Makes Political Comment.

LAOS ATTY. GENERAL ALTER

Says He Did Not Seek Nomination and His Entry Into Campaign Was Not Accompanied by Promises to Bosses Wears No Collar.

Philadelphia, April 25.—The neatly planned and cleverly-concocted anti-Republican organization formed with the object of making Gifford Pinchot the governor of Pennsylvania received a shocking setback the other day when the Philadelphia Bulletin, the leading newspaper of Pennsylvania and the second largest circulated newspaper on the American continent, said a few things editorially about the quality of "bull" being put out to bolster the cause of the wild forester. After commenting at some length on the action of the United States supreme court in upholding the legality of the Woner amendment to the Brooks law and stating that the opinion of the highest court of the land was a notable compliment to Attorney General Alter, the Bulletin ran the following as editorial comment:

"As for the rest of the current discussion in the campaign, it is largely bupkis. It was an open secret that the support of Governor Sprout would have been warmly welcomed in the Pinchot camp. There was no official notice of the fact that Commissioner Fishers' managers, were urgently pleading for the support of other factors now enlisted in the Alter and Pinchot camp. In the eagerness of the early efforts, the friends of Mr. Pinchot are crossing bows, one group denouncing the wickedness of political deals and maneuvering alleged to have brought about the candidacy of Attorney General Alter, and another group shouting in glee because some of these 'wicked' county bosses are threatening to turn on Alter as not to their liking or of their kind, and to trans fer their allegiance to Mr. Pinchot. Mr. Alter has made the definite assertion that he is bound by no promises, and the best confirmation of his word is the circumstance of his entry into the contest. He did not seek the nomination. He had once refused to have his name used. He did not bargain for support because he did not have to. He was drafted at the last moment, in response to a determined expression of public opinion that other aspirants for the nomination would not do, and that the personal interests of the factions must be subordinated by the selection of a candidate, whose personal worth and ability would command recognition. Under such circumstances a candidate wears no collar."

In Great Confusion.

This Bulletin editorial certainly threw the anti-Republican organization into a state of great confusion. Previously they tried to have the den yable belief that every Philadelphia newspaper was standing behind them and that General Alter would receive no newspaper support in this city. How wrong they found themselves can best be stated in the mere assertion that the Bulletin has more circulation than all the rest of the Republican newspapers of Philadelphia, and all Philadelphia knows that it wields far greater influence than the other dailies combined.

The Bulletin, unlike other Philadelphia newspapers, supporting the anti-Republican candidate, has no personal bias to try to out-ridges to even up the news without favor or color and does not permit itself editorially to run amuck with irresponsible statements, half-truths and reflections upon men who refuse to join the unstable element which would destroy the Republican party.

The day following the Bulletin editorial the news columns of that newspaper gave a column sketch of Attorney General Alter, stating among other things the following:

Resembles Lincoln.
"In some ways George Elias Alter, Attorney General of Pennsylvania and candidate for the gubernatorial nomination of the Republican party, reminds one of Abraham Lincoln."

"There is a vestige of the martyred president in Alter's appearance; there is a trace of analogy between the career of Lincoln and that of Alter, which began many years ago on a farm near Springdale, a suburb of Pittsburgh. It is probable nothing would please Alter, more than to be considered, to some extent, the 'Lincoln of Pennsylvania.'

"For years the Attorney General has collected Lincoln literature and data, and has studied Lincoln's life."
"Physically Alter is immense. He stands six feet four and is proportionately broad. His arms are long and his hands are big and covered on the backs with hair. They look like the hands of a man who toils, big knuckled and the fingers blunt-tipped, but they are smooth and white."

Commanding Presence.

"His shoulders are slightly rounded and when he speaks, whether to one or many persons, his piercing greyish blue eyes are fixed straight ahead. This characteristic, combined with his great height and the fullness of his voice, give him a commanding presence. During his service as speaker of the house at Harrisburg, he easily quelled the most disorderly outbursts by softly tapping with his gavel and booming: 'Remember, gentlemen, courtesy is the first rule of parliamentary practice.'"

"His face is handsome and distinguished, in a rugged, virile way. His eyes are clear and his features even and finely chiseled. There is a humorous twist to the corners of his full lips. There are deep lines in his face and about his mouth, that suggest the Lincoln lines caused, perhaps, by laughter or worry or both. His thick, curly hair, dark sandy, is now changed to an ash-grey color, but his thin eyebrows are still blond."

"He dresses in dark, loose clothes and a big felt hat, all of which help to accentuate his size. This simplicity in dress, his friends say, is a simplicity which is an indication of Alter's character, a straightforward equality which refuses to be bluffed into hasty action and which seldom goes off on a false tangent."

"Alter has many friends in Harrisburg, where he has passed so much of his time during the years he has been in public service. He is probably the only attorney general who never closes his office door when he is at his desk. He still pronounces law as 'lor' and stenography is 'sten-ograhphie.'"

Son of a Carpenter.

"Alter, the son of Elias and Martha Alter, was born May 8, 1868. At that time his father was a carpenter and the family in modest circumstances."

"Alter worked on neighboring farms and on the land owned by his father while he was going to the public schools. 'Lengthy' George, as he was known to his schoolmates then, had the misfortune to grow into manhood with but little time to learn how to play."

"His education progressed no further than the eighth grade of public schools, and he obtained a position as stenographer and draughtsman in the office of an architect in Pittsburgh. He wanted to learn shorthand and studied assiduously until he had become expert."

"He then became a stenographer and law student in the law office of William Voss. On December 16, 1892, he was admitted to the bar."

"Alter prospered in the law. At present he is a member of the firm of Alter, Wright and Barron. To this day he has not abandoned his early training; he forced upon himself in the mastering of shorthand, for he frequently makes his own notes in court."

"In 1902 he was married to Miss Diana Ketchum, formerly of Springdale, but then living in Indianapolis. He has four children, Kathleen, 17; Frances, 15; George, 6; and David, 4. They are his chief delight and he never fails to speak of them when the subject of families is brought up. Three other children died."

"Alter's first step into public life was made when he became township auditor of Springdale. In 1905, the town developed and a city council was formed. Alter became its first president."

As Legislator and Speaker.

"He was first elected to the legislature in 1908 and the following year made his first appearance as a member at Harrisburg. He resigned as president of the Springdale city council and returned to Harrisburg in 1911 and 1912. In the session of 1913 he was speaker."

"In 1915 he was appointed on a committee of three to revise and codify the laws controlling decedents' estates. The other members of this committee were Judge Gest, of the orphans' court of Philadelphia, and Judge Baldrige, of the common pleas court of Blair county. Their work was approved by the legislature."

"Alter was made a member of the committee on constitutional amendment and revision of 1919 and 1920. In December of the latter year he was appointed Attorney General by Governor Sprout to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Attorney General Shaffer to the supreme court."

"Alter heard of his appointment over the telephone while he was recuperating from influenza in Atlantic City."

"One of the institutions in which Alter has always taken great interest and of which he is now president, is the Parting of the Ways Home in Pittsburgh. The object of this institution is to care for men immediately after their release from prison and until they obtain employment."

"For the past thirty-four years Alter has been active in the work of the Methodist church of Springdale. He has been a superintendent of the Sunday school, is still an official of the church and for thirty-two years taught a Bible class."

"He is a member of the Masonic Order and the L. O. O. F. Besides his home at Springdale, he maintains a cottage at Ocean City, N. J., where he passes each summer with his family."

Curious Scales Used in Counter.
A short stick carrying a suspended pan at each end and held up by a cord about the middle is the companion trade balance of Clearfield. The weight is a rock about the size of a marble fist, and, while no two of the stones are ever the same size, the merchant is always prepared to pledge his honor that the stone weighs a full and exact pound. The price for a commodity is almost never fixed and the merchant is always prepared and expects to come down, somewhat from his first price. It speaks worlds for his optimism that he invariably tries to get more. The bargaining does not actually begin until you have disregarded the first figure and asked, "What is the last price?"

Stradivarius Viols.

Stradivarius was born in 1644 and died in 1737. He worked until he was over ninety years of age and turned out a large number of violins and violoncellos. Altogether, according to estimates, about one thousand violins and about three hundred other instruments are attributed to him. These other instruments include different kinds of viols, some bass viols, and also some lutes, guitars and mandolins, very exquisitely wrought. The label is a genuine Stradivarius instrument is supposed to have been made of paper. Only an expert can distinguish a genuine instrument.

Olive Brought Here From Mexico.
The olive was brought into the United States from Mexico by the early Franciscan fathers and propagated from mission to mission as they progressed northward. The gold rush came, bringing its flood of travelers from southern Europe demanding their accustomed ration of olive oil. Good prices stimulated visions of untold wealth in the minds of the western pioneers, resulting in an olive planting boom. In 1835 there were fewer than 50,000 olive trees in America. Twelve years later there were 2,000,000, planted for the most part according to European traditions on waste land and not irrigated, and of small varieties in many cases, only suitable for crushing into oil.

Bird Friend of the Rhinoceros

The rhinoceros bird is a little bird, about the size of a thrush, with which the rhinoceros makes friends. The bird perches on the animal's head or broad back, and hops about devouring the insects and vermin which torture the huge beast. These birds are also believed to warn the rhinoceros of approaching danger, because they frequently have been observed running about the animal's head, flapping their wings and uttering shrill, warning notes, the beast seeming to understand their meaning.

Melbourne's Mot.

"Who remembers when one's newspaper used to come dumpy and clammy?" Speaking of that, the story is told of Lord Melbourne in the old days meeting an editor who had attacked him in his newspaper. The editor was bundled up and remarked that he had a severe cold. "Ah!" said Lord Melbourne, "that comes from lying on damp sheets."

Oyster Enlarges Home.

An oyster enlarges its own shell. It spends its infancy in the hole where it lives in its latter days. As it grows it throws out a secretion of animal matter and carbonate of lime, which sticks to the shell, and oozes over the edges surrounding the hollow in which the creature resides. Thus, as time goes on, its home gradually becomes larger and thicker.

Fast Sailing Ships.
The fastest day's record of any sailing ship on any sea was made by the Sovereign of the Seas on a passage from San Francisco to New York, when it covered 437 miles in 24 hours. The quickest passage of a clipper ship across the Atlantic was that of the Dreadnaught, from New York, to Cape Clear, Ireland, in 12 days, in 1859.

America's Youngest Woman Explorer Returns

Gertrude Emerson, Noted Editor, Visits Buried Cities in Asia

"Miss Marco Polo"—the title earned in the Orient by adventurous Gertrude Emerson, associate editor of "Asia," for her indefatigable explorations—is safe on American soil again, to the infinite relief of her friends.

For this intrepid small person, who is just five feet tall and only weighs ninety-six pounds, went all around the world during the last two years, absolutely alone, on a still hunt for picture and story material for her magazine.

People Courteous Everywhere
Wherever she went, people were solicitous for her safety, but she waved warnings aside and blithely kept on with her exploring. She hunted tigers in Indo-China, and crocodiles in India; she traveled by elephant, camel, sampan, horse-back, motor, aeroplane and ocean liner over so many thousands of miles that she lost count of them herself.

She visited Angkor, a buried city of Cambodia, rediscovered by the French in 1910, where only one hundred persons had ever been since. She explored the famous bat caves of the Philippines and took dangerous motor trips across Indian country that was infested with fanatical insurgents. She was the only passenger on a cargo boat, going from Port Said to Constantinople, which two months before had been held up by the Turks with resultant large death rate.

"But I wasn't scared," she offers casually. "An American woman can go anywhere and she's doing it, too, if not in person at least by way of pencil or pen.

American Music Heard 'Round The World

"For instance, there was the zippy little waltz 'Three O'clock in the Morning' to which I danced American dances in Yokohama, Paris, Bangkok and London. Dorothy Terry, an American girl, wrote the words to that, and now it's an international tune, played not only by foreign dance orchestras, but by the natives themselves on their own peculiar instruments.

"The ship's orchestra played it on my way over from London and when I got home, a phonograph in a near-by apartment greeted me with the familiar

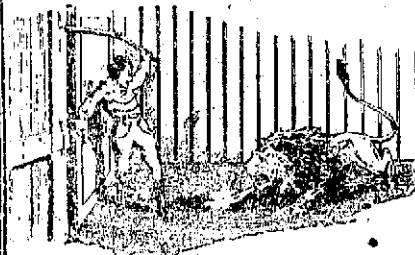

"It's three o'clock in the morning. We've danced the whole night through. And daylight will soon be dawning. Just one more waltz with you."

"It was hard for me to realize that I was really at home again."

Brain Alters Position.

There is no doubt that the normal brain obeys the law of gravity, and alters its position with varying positions of the head. Every organ of the body possesses a degree of mobility proportional to the extent to which it is covered by a serious membrane separating it from the wall of the cavity which contains it. Whenever the skull and dura are widely opened during an operation, movements of the brain can be demonstrated by altering the position of the head, and although the movement is probably exaggerated, it is of the different physical nature which obtain in the open as compared with the closed skull, there is no reason to suppose that all movement is absent when the skull is in place.—Percy Sargent in "Brain."

Mr. Jenkins Took a Cracked Club To Tame Lions

The exhibition ended rather badly. It very nearly was a big day for the lions and a sad day for Mr. Jenkins—all for want of proper care in getting ready.

Many a man who has business to do and a living to make and a job to fill is as careless how he feeds his body as Mr. Jenkins was in picking out a club.

Some foods are too heavy, some are too starchy, many lack necessary elements and so starve the body—and many load the system down with fermentation and auto-intoxication.

Grape-Nuts helps build health and strength. It contains the full richness of wheat and malted barley, including the vital mineral elements, without which the body cannot be fully sustained. Grape-

Nuts digests quickly and wholesomely. Served with cream or good milk, it is a complete food—crisp and delicious.

Grape-Nuts is just the food for those who care to meet life's situations well prepared in health. Order Grape-Nuts from your grocer today. Try it with cream or milk for breakfast or lunch, or made into a delightful pudding for dinner.

Two Hundred Dollars Per Week Cost of New York Baby's Lullaby

Slumber Song Carrolled Nightly by Mother Over Long Distance Tele- phone Delights Infant

A small New York boy aged one is said to enjoy the most expensive and exclusive "song at twilight" ceremony of any baby in the world.

The sleepy-time melody is sung by the youngster's mother, one of the highest-salaried of all vaudeville stars and it comes over long distance telephone every day no matter how many the miles between the singer and her unique audience.

Actress An Old Fashioned Mother

Belle Baker, who has devised this method of reminding Herbert John, her only child, of his mother when she is absent from him, is known in theatrical circles as one of those parents who when croup is pitted against a career, lets the career go hang until the croup is conquered.

But recently, for the first time since the birth of her son, her career compelled her to leave the city for a tour through the south and middle west and even along the distant coast.

Was Herbert John, who has now reached the age of discrimination, to be cheated of the lullaby over which he had been nightly cooling and gurgling? Not while he has ingenious Belle Baker for a mother.

"I'll sing that blessed 'Ten Little Fingers and Ten Little Toes' for him every night, no matter how far away I am," she calmly told his nurse.

When Distance Means Nothing
So she does and so she has and no matter if she's in Kalamazoo, Chicago or San Francisco, just when Herbert John is getting ready for bed, the telephone rings, the receiver is held to the small boy's ear and he hears these familiar jazz lullaby strains sung by a beloved voice:

©Leo Feist Inc.
"I've got ten little fingers, and ten little toes, waiting down in Tennessee—for me!"

"And I'm telling you the truth," his nurse says proudly. "He kicks and gurgles and tries to sing with her!"

Herbert John's Lullaby Private
"No'm, Miss Belle won't sing over the radio. She says everybody could listen in and that would be just what she does all day, singing for crowds. This is just for her baby, she says, and he's the only one that's going to hear his favorite song. She's got it down, too, so that it just fits into four minutes."

"And then do you know, that baby closes his eyes and goes right to sleep? Yes, ma'am, he just waits for that song and he hears it here knows it's his bedtime."

CURWENSVILLE

Pennsylvania Music Week will be celebrated in the schools next week. The Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg has issued a pamphlet on Community singing advocating more attention to music in the Public Schools. In our schools here this has been sadly neglected for several years. So next week special attention shall be given to community singing. We are taught to "Sing and the hills will answer." On Tuesday night of next week Prof. George E. Croyle, Assistant Principal of our schools will conduct a "Song Fest" in the Methodist church. This will not be for schools alone but for the entire community. All the churches and societies of the town are invited to be present at this song fest. Let each organization come and bring at least one song. Opportunity will be given to any society or individual to sing. If you can sing, come and help! If you can only sing a little bit, come and do your best! And if you can't sing at all, come and hear the others try it. A good time is promised and you will enjoy it.

The elementary schools are now getting ready to take up their work for the year. Eight months of school will be over next Thursday. As this is the term of the elementary schools in Curwensville we are soon to see the teachers of these grades and the prattle of the little ones on the streets. Truly we shall miss them. But before we realize, the school bell will be ringing for them next September. The grammar grades and high school will close their work on June 2nd. The Baccalaureate service will be preached by Rev. Bertram H. Conley in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, May 28th, and commencement will be held Wednesday evening, May 31st, in the Opera House.

I. It is to be hoped, that, at least, a large percentage of our teachers will return for they have proven 100% efficient. But this feature of their report lies with our very capable Board of Education.

On Friday evening of this week the three literary societies will hold an open meeting in the high school study hall at 8 o'clock. You and your ten cents are invited to this meeting.

It is the first public meeting of the kind this year. The program will consist of recitations, essays, orations, debate and "The Paper." Many other incidental performances will be introduced. These societies have done earnest, sincere work during the present term and are deserving of all the encouragement the patrons can give them.

Supt. T. S. Davis, of the Blair County Public Schools who visited our schools this week expressed himself as very well pleased with the work and the results.

Supt. Davis makes it a practice to visit many of the best schools of the state each year. This year Curwensville got on his calendar. While here he addressed the teachers in a special meeting. Supt. Davis is one of the most distinguished educators of the state and Curwensville is greatly honored by his visitation here. He says that more of his teachers and pupils know of Curwensville than of any other town in Clearfield county and that there will be other distinguished visitors from Blair county here to observe and to learn.

The High School outlined the last recitation period in the afternoon and assembled with the seventh and eighth grades to hear Supt. Davis. Director Dr. H. O. King, brought Supt. Davis to the platform and gave the exercises his official support and approval. At the close of Supt. Davis's most interesting lecture he recited the poem entitled "The September Gale" to the delight and pleasure of all present.

Mr. Robinson will conduct another of his most profitable spelling matches on Friday afternoon of this week in the high school study hall. The words will be selected from the lists already given. In fact it will be a sort of a review test. Mr. Robinson believes in reviews and drills. He says that the greatest lessons of his life were drilled into him, even to the hunting point.

Prof. J. W. Yoder, of Juniata College, paid the high school a visit on Wednesday. Prof. Yoder is author of the song "Pennsylvania," the best Pennsylvania song ever written. He sang a number of selections to the high school and then led in the singing of his own song. Prof. Yoder was the County Institute Instructor in Music last fall. He is one of the greatest leaders in Music in the State. Our high school felt distinctly honored by his visit and as a result of these distinguished visitors to return at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Swamp have returned to "The Homestead" after a delightful winter in Philadelphia. Both are well and glad to come and are being welcomed by their many friends here. After all "East, West, Home's Best."

Mrs. Wesley Outheart, of Olaton, shipped in town today.

Mrs. Chas. Riddle, of Bloomington, is visiting her mother Mrs. Shaffer.

Mrs. S. C. Kirk, of Clearfield, spent part of Wednesday with her sister, Miss Bertha Lillard, who has been ill for a few days and unable to take charge of her school room.

The funeral of Emanuel West, who died yesterday morning, will be held from his late residence on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. C. Collins officiating.

Mrs. Dora Helper, of Grampian, was a Curwensville shopper on Wednesday.

Mrs. H. Heltzenrath of Grampian spent yesterday with friends here. Mrs. John Rowan, of the South Side is quite ill with pneumonia.

Miss Ida Robinson is recovering from an attack of flu.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Soldiers Memorial Tablet will be given under the auspices of the Auxiliary of the American Legion, Monday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged.

Mr. Weber's Bible Class of the M. E. church will hold a business meeting and social in the "Teen Age Department" on Friday night at 8 o'clock.

SHAWVILLE

Miss Georgia Buck attended the examination of the Eighth Grade in Clearfield on Saturday.

J. C. Smith was a caller at the parsonage on Tuesday.

Communion Services were administered in the Goshen M. E. church on Sunday morning.

Steps are being taken to build a new church at Goshen this spring. One man has subscribed five hundred dollars and there are others to follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Condon, of Eden, are proud parents of a bouncing baby boy. The child and its mother are doing fine.

No services in Eden church on Easter because the pastor was called to make an address in the Congress Hill Easter service.

Gillingham M. E. church looks fine with its new coat of paint. Hainseys are the contractors and painters.

Congress Hill officials will paint their church in the very near future, and make some much needed improvements.

Shawville Sunday school is growing. Fifty-five present Sunday. Wilbert Mahew is the Supt.

Special Evangelistic Services beginning May 7th. Inst. Several speakers will assist the pastor.

Miss Edith Buck who has been employed at the M. E. parsonage has secured a position at Kurtz Bros. in Clearfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell are visiting at the parsonage. Mrs. Campbell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Note.

The Rev. and Mrs. Van Note were at dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith at Congress Hill on Saturday.

Prof. H. D. Minard's entertainment at Congress Hill on Tuesday of this week was fine.

Four new candidates were initiated in the grange last Thursday night. They were Joseph Morris, Grant Sankey, Henry Kyler and Mrs. Henry Kyler.

Codfish as Old as History.
Codfish is said to be the world's most important—which means the most eaten—fish. Few fish are more prolific. It has been asserted that one weighing 75 pounds will contain over 5,000,000 eggs. The cod is practically omnivorous, feeding means to supply great schools wherever food of any sort is found. It is found in many parts of the world other than the North American "banks," and it is said that it has been fished for by fishermen of northern Europe since the beginning of recorded history and, of course, for uncountable centuries before man began to make written records.

Blow for the Minister.
In a certain church one of the duties of the old sexton was to pump the organ. The man was deaf and perhaps on that account had fallen into the somewhat embarrassing habit of abruptly quitting his task before a hymn was ended. One Sunday a new minister was coming, and since he was young and unmarried, the young lady who played the organ naturally wanted to appear to the best advantage. As soon as the service had begun she wrote a note and, handing it to the sexton, told him to read it at once. Evidently the old man did not correctly catch his words, for to her horror she saw him go to the minister right after the first hymn and hand him the note. The minister opened it and read: "Keep blowing steadily away until I tell you to stop."—Youth's Companion.

Brief and Comprehensive.
Ben Dierks has an express agency and transfer business in a village in Sonoma county, California. Recently he detailed one of his teamsters with a wagon and pair to take a San Francisco man and wife to their country place a few miles out of town. The bill, as rendered by the teamster, read: "Haul grip, grub, and people, three hours, three dollars."

A FLYER IN AUGERS

"Tours?" he queried. She nodded. "They're great," he told her and went on with his job. Presently he looked up again. "Let me see your balance sheets of about this date, one two, and three years ago," he directed.

"Yes, sir," she said with alacrity for J. E. Cuspid was a nice man even though Greenwood didn't like him. She went to Rick to find out "He wants to see the balance sheets," she whispered.

"All right," Mary showed them to him. He ordered in a queer mixture of earnestness for Cuspid and affection for Mary.

Fifteen minutes later J. E. Cuspid paid folded a piece of paper and stuck it in his pocket and stalked out of the door. John Ames, smiling serenely, strolled out after him, for the atmosphere of that office was too tense for a traitor.

Half an hour later J. E. Cuspid came back, followed by the serenely smiling John Ames. Cuspid threw a huge bunch of documents on the table.

"Would you like to have this junk?" he inquired of young Greenwood who had risen at his desk to resent this second imposition.

"What is it?" blurted Greenwood, backing away from it.

"Eighty-five per cent of the stock of the Digbits Mortising Angel company," explained Cuspid. "The boys brought it with them to the meeting today and I just went up to make a collection of it."

"I don't understand," faltered the young president, seeking the eyes of John Ames, but that rascal was gaining out of the window on which Greenwood had dimmed.

"Take it," urged Cuspid. "Consolidate the concerns run a bluff competition with them, do anything you please. We're busy men and tired of fussing with it."

The blood began to come back to Rick's cheeks. He drew the certificate toward him.

"I don't understand," he again faltered.

"You've got on by and by," chuckled Cuspid. "You're a man. I want to congratulate you and grasping Rick's limp hand, he shook it briskly. "You've kept 90 per cent of your business you don't owe a cent, and you're running a three-year-old automobile. Take that stock and give us ten-year notes for it."

"I'm afraid I haven't capital to saving both companies," worried Greenwood.

"You can get all you want at the First National," advised Cuspid, looking around the room. "Where's that pigskin wastebasket with the gold monogram? Oh, yes, here it is. How did you come to buy that thing, Dick?"

"To express my attitude toward my father's business," Rick explained, smiling. "By the way, what about Digbits?"

"Oh, I'd give him a good job," decried Cuspid as he went out of the door. "You better give Ames his twenty-five thousand."

Rick walked over and shook John Ames by the hand. They stood there chuckling at each other like two fools.

Chapter IX.

Rick's Mummy was giving a party in honor of Rick's triumph. John Ames, still puzzled, watched Margaret in the midst of a group of her admirers, and suddenly realized why he had been puzzled why there had never been between Margaret and himself the intense attraction which can ripen into love.

A dapper little friend of Ned Cross was introduced to her, and John saw the handshake which passed between them. He saw too the light in her eyes, which had never been in his own.

Quiet he had not realized it before. This was Nature's eternal effort at readjustment. Something within the tall Margaret Greenwood, of which she was utterly unconscious, made it impossible for her to ever love a tall man and something within the tall John Ames made it impossible for him to love the beautiful and attractive Margaret Greenwood.

"I think I shall be going away to-morrow," he told her at the close of the evening.

"Oh, no!" she protested, genuinely pained. "We shall miss you. We've been such good friends."

Again he felt the thrill of her voice and saw the fire beneath the chill of her eyes and noted the red flush of her lips.

"I guess I'm doomed to be a wanderer," he lightly said and shook hands with her in farewell.

His own hand came up, willing to, but he was too late. She had

Value of Venetian Long Known

Venetian as a preservative made from gums, by no means unknown, for a so-called Venetian was mentioned in wrappings found on mummies in Egypt. And in the Nineteenth century B. C. mummies on Thebes were decorated with paintings in which Venetian had its part. The mummy quality found in Venice was long ago supplied to lend to mummies of paint to which such were mixed with a salt of oil and alcohol. And you sum is the best preservative to which in chemistry, it often is added. Bugs are found embedded within its clear substance. Such a curious thing, as the old Venetian mummy with each half sealed in it to the breeze has been found embedded in Zani's but guess.

For Little Girl Graduates

Three suggestions for the grammar school girl's graduation frock. About three-fourths of them will be made in white organdie with ruffles and lace, but the severely tailored frock with almost no frills will claim attention.

Mixed Characteristics

At a public gathering, in England, an orator waving his hand said: "To ridicule the idea of this country being invaded is to follow the example of the camel, which buries its head in the sand when in enemy approaches. The rival speaker rose and retorted: 'Surely the gentleman in giving utterance to this apothegm must have meant to refer to the ostrich which in those circumstances has a habit of putting its eye through a needle.' NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine improved every ailment I do. My own work now is easy. I wash and do my housework. I can accomplish as much in a day now as I would have taken a week to do last winter, and I try to get over one thing to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like. Mrs. C. A. Baker, 21 Spencer Ave., Houtdale, N.Y.
